THE BOSTON FIRE

PRESIDENT GRANT,

Neither did it destroy the most approved

SEWING MACHINE ATTACHMENT

ever invented. This simple little machine, which is no less than

Wilder's New Bobbin Winder,

winds the thread on a bobbin without the use of a person's hands, as even as thread is wound on a spool by the manufacturer. This, as every lady knows, is a very important thing in order to get an even tension and it is very hard to do without these machines which not only save an abundance of time but wind one-third more thread on a bobbin. The Attachment is confined to the machine in the same place as the old one and the price is $1.00 and further, it can be seen in operation at

THE TRUNDIE MURDER

ATTORNEY GENERAL PLAISTED'S ARGUMENT.

The following carefully revised abstract of Attorney General Plaisted's summing up of the evidence against John E. Gordon, on the murder trial at Belfast, affords a graphic account of the circumstantial evidence which brought the terrible crime home to its fiendish perpetrator.—

Gen. Plaisted said that the trial of a prisoner at the bar on the testimony of the Court for a week, we all have a part and a responsibility. It is that of the jury to determine the issue of life or death, in the interest of society and the vindication of the laws. It was a crime unparalleled in the history of criminal trials. Those innocent persons in the last were impelled by robbery—it is sure to say whether the law is equally important to vindicate itself. The witnesses, upon whom impositions have not justly been cast, are of the highest intelligence and character. They are uncontradicted and unimpeached. On the other hand we have the prisoner's statement uncorroborated and started with an acknowledged fiction, the mythical Greene. He has to account the truth will not save him.

He fabricated the Greene story, he says, to win the sympathy of the public. May he not be to win yours? What confidence, then, is to be placed in his statements? Let them have all the weight they are entitled to, outset them not outweigh the testimony of disinterested witnesses, and of facts. He stands indicted for the highest crime known to the law. In it are two propositions—he, was the woman murdered? Did he murder the prisoner? The one is as clear as the other. A whole family were brutally murdered in their slumbers, father and mother, husband and wife, and children and their mangled bodies found covered all over with "the deep damnation of their taking off?" Is there any doubt? Can the sole survivor be the one first to discover the crime and? And was not their moderation astonishing? They obeyed the law and manifested order.

There is no question of the great crime. Who was the perpetrator? Consider the circumstances, the surroundings, the facts. There was a motive, without which no crime is committed. What was it? Plunder, gain, finance and revenge are the usual motives. There was no plunder here for murder. Murders do not do for nothing. Lives do not for money or revenge. The axe discloses the motive and the purpose, the manner in which it was used, the terrible blows struck, the terrible wounds given, all indicate the murderous purpose. He provided himself with a weapon with that deadly weapon to do his deadly work, with the kerosene to conceal the evidence of his crime. Revenge was the motive and fearfully was it executed. Ghastly wounds upon the head of the wife and three with a more terrible one upon the seems to have been visited upon her.

Who was the perpetrator? This fiend in human shape. No stranger had such a motive and the Judge was as sure a motive as unquestionable. If a stranger did it, why did he stop to burn the bodies, when firewood is bring? Why the neighborhood in the spot? Some time he demanded concealment of the bodies, and hence the burning. The torch was to conceal the work of the axe.

Did he do upon the exigencies of the crime? Required the concealment of the crime? His property, his life depended upon it. The burning tells you he was no stranger, no relations to the murdered victims were known, and such that the discovery of the crime would be the discovery of the criminal.

Again the instrument of the foul deed was the axe of the murdered man. Did a stranger go there for the purpose of murder? And with which him no deadly weapon? Did a stranger find that axe in the darkness in a strange place? There is upon it a foul taint of tallow, that tells a candle was used. A candle was found in the crib—did a stranger bring that—when it is identified as the one the elder Mrs. Gordon used. Could a stranger find that also? Another circumstance I am not permitted by the Court to comment upon (the bag). All that belongs to the crime belongs to the prisoner. Was the criminal Ward? Every one acquits him, and no suspicion rests on him. The only other one is John E. Gordon. After alarm bodies rescued, and are put out, he was arrested by unanimous voice of the neighbors. Every one felt that he was he, and in all the long months since no one has been suspected.

What is the evidence? There was first a motive, which is always present in crimes—There was all will and enmity, long brooded over, threats to kill towards his brother—And in regard to the letters, he said "I think Allen's wife did it, and if I were certain I would kill her." Subsequently he acknowledged that he knew Emma did it. There was no will in the matter of the saw, and the facts show an enmity. He called Almon "a damned whelp," and said he would remember him. Then there is the property matter. Almon declined to live there unless he had a deed of the farm. Uncle [illegible] given to Almon. [illegible] Almon had gone to [illegible] suspected if not [illegible] sent away. He [illegible] that his parents had [illegible] all their property [illegible] that he had been [illegible] Harmon's he talked [illegible] "perhaps their property [illegible] He complained to [illegible] still greater—that [illegible] which he believed [illegible] tified that they [illegible] did he, on coming home [illegible] get into the house [illegible] shed left, and after [illegible] Bangor? God only [illegible] in his heart. The [illegible] only to cause confusion [illegible] threat uttered to [illegible] life or mine is damned [illegible] is strong evidence [illegible] and of a criminal [illegible]

His enemity to [illegible] pared to his feeling [illegible] He could possibly [illegible] erty, although it [illegible] not the letters. In [illegible] swer the question "[illegible] ty will Almon's wife [illegible] words with her. He [illegible] not a murderous [illegible] close, silent man, and [illegible] not by the [illegible] quarrel—the quality of a [illegible] rels are tragedies. [illegible] duced on such [illegible] told Mrs. Toward if [illegible] the author of those [illegible] life, and afterwards [illegible] murder, I told the Hag [illegible] it was Emma. On [illegible] of these threats. All [illegible] murder he had not [illegible] but wandered about [illegible] alone, talked not [illegible] motive influences [illegible] clous [illegible] Monday she told him [illegible] Tuesday [illegible] [illegible] Wednesday [illegible]

I have spoken of the surroundings of the murder, and the theory that no stranger did it. I have given you motives on the part of the accused. It is hard to believe that any one wearing the human form could have done it—but that it was done there can be no dispute. And every circumstance points to the prisoner at the bar. When he had been discorded all his acts point in regular order to this conclusion. They say that the brothers were on good terms, and that they and Joseph rode to the depot together Saturday night. Joseph is here; why was he not on the stand to prove it? There was an attempt to weaken the testimony of Elisha Gordon. He had no motive to falsify, for he is related to the prisoner. And how directly he went to the threat against Almon, with nothing leading to it, as though it welled up from a heart full of its deadly hatred. And [illegible] the prisoner [illegible] his silence [illegible] many [illegible] Oh Sir [illegible] has written [illegible] wife rel[illegible] hides to [illegible] hope from [illegible] Is it [illegible] so, Anna [illegible] not want [illegible] the crim[illegible] Ward was [illegible] divide th[illegible] crely, [illegible] up stairs [illegible] decided [illegible] The famil[illegible] Anna and [illegible] to their re[illegible] have [illegible] called to [illegible] room, [illegible] from the [illegible] was killed [illegible] As he w[illegible] and he sa[illegible] not a m[illegible] down [illegible] have [illegible] the quest[illegible] first upst[illegible] door it c[illegible] and is it a [illegible] have his[illegible] back. DEMANDS AGAINST SPAIN.

The Commercial is quite elated at finding a similarity in its editorial columns with the bogus despatches of the N. Y. Herald. There is also a striking similarity in the amount of importance to be attached to either. The statement that our Government had made itself ridiculous by filing peremptory demands for the restoration of the Virginius and indemnity to the heirs of the victims, before it had determined the status of that vessel, has already been officially contradicted. And yet the Commercial prints these demands as having been made by the Administration; evidently desiring to make its readers believe that our officials at Washington are as silly as itself. We understand that our Government has simply protested against the capture and the summary executions and notified Spain that we shall demand the amplest reparation for any and all indignities, outrages or injuries to this nation or its citizens which may be disclosed upon a full ascertainment of the facts. Through our interposition the further execution of prisoners has been stopped and both Governments are now investigating the facts connected with the capture and subsequent events in order to define the issues between them.

The nature of our demands must be determined by the facts, and we have no doubt that they will be made to amply cover every legitimate ground of complaint. When there are such marked differences of opinion among eminent authorities upon international law with reference to the points raised in this case, it will certainly be judicious for our Government to avoid the hasty assumption of positions which may prove untenable. We are not acting as the champions of the Cuban insurrection, nor is it our desire to make the national flag a shield for unlawful enterprises. Our grievance is not that a hostile expedition against Cuba has been captured; but that a vessel whose United States flag and papers afforded prima facie evidence of her nationality and legitimate character, was captured on the high seas, carried to a foreign port, and a large number of those on board summarily put to death, without notification to the Government, under whose flag and credentials they were taken; thus preventing the authorities of the United States from ascertaining and affording protection to any national interests or individual rights of citizens which might prove to have been infringed. We proceed upon the theory that whatever may have been the actual character of the Virginius she might have been engaged in legitimate pursuits and the summary proceedings adopted would have prevented the interposition of our Government to save the lives and property of its citizens unlawfully captured and wrongfully accused. We do not believe that our authorities will insist that the American flag is to furnish immunity to any craft on the high seas, even though it be a pirate. The common-sense view would seem to be that beyond the local jurisdiction the seas are the common highway of all nations; that any interference thereon with a vessel bearing the flag of a recognized power, by officers of another power involves the captors with the responsibility of justifying their proceeding or making reparation for an outrage upon the rights of another nation; and that in case of such a seizure ample notice to the power whose flag she bore should precede any action against the vessel or those on board. We think the records of our Admiralty Courts will show cases where vessels under the British flag and papers were captured on the high seas by our cruisers during the rebellion, and forfeited to the United States Government for being engaged in illegitimate traffic with the insurgents. Such cases, however, were publicly adjudicated and the fullest opportunity afforded to the parties interested to maintain all their rights. In the Virginius case the United States complain that in disregard of international courtesy and national rights the Virginius and those on board were condemned and a large number of persons summarily executed, without affording us opportunity to investigate the circumstances or even to witness the proceedings, and that so far as any official or judicial information is concerned we do not know but that a peaceful American vessel has been condemned and more than fifty American citizens brutally murdered. Deliberate proceedings, at which our Government could have been properly represented, might have satisfied us that neither the vessel nor those on board were entitled to our protection; but our national rights were disregarded and our Consul treated with indignity and contempt! This, we imagine to be the main point of the American case.

As to our demands, the national affront requires an adequate apology; if the Virginius was entitled to American protection, the vessel must be restored and her owners indemnified; and with the establishment of her legitimate character would follow a demand for indemnity to the heirs of all American citizens executed and the liberation and indemnification of American citizens imprisoned or otherwise interfered with. Assuming the character of the vessel established as above we should demand of Spain an emphatic condemnation of the massacres and ample guarantee against their repetition; and we may naturally expect that the officials implicated will be properly punished. It is customary for nations disavowing acts intimicable another power to visit some penalty upon the offending official; but this is a matter which rests between that nation and its agent and would hardly be made the subject of a demand from another government. These penalties are generally inflicted as an evidence of good faith and they are frequently of a merely nominal character. A British representative in this country has been summarily recalled out of deference to our Government and subsequently promoted to a higher diplomatic position elsewhere; and in the case of the seizure of the Florida in Brazilian waters, Commander Collins of our Navy was temporarily suspended as an act of courtesy to Brazil, and subsequently restored to full rank and honors. We must look to the Government of Spain to make reparation for our injuries and we may expect, though we hardly think we can dictate the punishment of her own officials.

Thus far the case is involved in doubt which go to the foundation of the whole controversy and discussion of proper attitude for our Government can only be based on presumptions of fact. We have evidence in the calm spirit of the negotiations and the vigorous preparations for hostile emergencies that the President and his advisers may safely be trusted to take position on firm ground and maintain it, and on the assembling of Congress we shall probably have a clear statement of the whole case.

The public will do well to bear in mind that most of the reported interviews with the President on the Cuban question are fabrications. It is not at all likely that the President opens his confidence to every man who calls to inquire into the purposes of the Administration in a matter requiring the greatest prudence and secrecy; but it would be altogether discreditable to an interviewer, that he should fail in a report, thereby became the person to be interviewed declined to see him, and the class of people who relish the sensational despatches, would not be satisfied with so flimsy an excuse.

THE SOUTHERN COUNTERFEITERS.

Intelligence has been received from Asheville, N. C., of the conviction and sentence of some of the members of the gang of counterfeiters whose arrest we recorded about a month ago. David Frazier was sentenced to three years hard labor in the penitentiary, for passing and dealing in spurious gold coin of the denomination of $2.50. Lee Becker, a West Virginian planter, was convicted as a wholesale dealer. Jason S. Hyde, formerly High Sheriff of Graham County, who has for years been connected with the violators of the laws, the enforcing of which was hitherto in his hands, was sentenced to two years' hard labor and fined $1,000. Adam Cable, a rich planter of Cheowah, Graham county, described as the most villainous looking of the gang, received a similar sentence. Joel Loring, one of the most active of the gang was met by the same punishment. R. L. D. Burchfield, of Chicago, who during the war was in the Confederate service and subsequently became a captain in the Union army, received an equally severe award. This man before the war was convicted of murder and sentenced to be hanged, but escaped through some trick of the law. On one occasion recently, being present at the execution of a murderer, the criminal declared him to be the instigator of his crime. He has frequently been shot at and bears a bullet mark in his forehead. Since the war he has been a deputy United States Marshal. Mrs. Louisa Pennelly, who was arrested in Knoxville, having $200 counterfeit money on her person, was given six months in jail. Mrs. R. L. D. Burchfield was convicted, but her sentence was suspended on account of her sex and the fact of her having a babe only eight months old. Joseph Becker, the most notorious of the gang, who has been convicted and sentenced to hard labor, is an ex-member of the North Carolina Legislature.

The arrests in the southwestern section of North Carolina have been disposed of as follows: Forty-nine bills of indictment have been found against persons connected in some way with counterfeiting and uttering counterfeit money; two have been discharged for want of proof of guilty intent; two bills have been ignored by the Grand Jury; seven have been convicted and sentenced; five escaped after arrest by the special deputies; five are now in jail awaiting trial; three plead guilty, and the remainder are out on bail.

The fact was brought out at the trial that all the gangs have their distinct names. The Pleasant Black gang is named from an old man seventy years of age, who has been forty years engaged in the lawless business. He is worth $40,000, and is a hotel keeper and dry goods merchant. Other gangs are named from prominent members. The members of all the gangs are known and will be arrested.

How bravely the former satellites of the powerful Tammany Sachem now kick and cuff the fallen Tweed! The N. Y. World, which fed so long from his open hand when stealing was safe and profitable, now declares with more truth than gratitude, that "the sight of Wm. M. Tweed in a convict's dress," will have a more repressing effect upon rascality than all the speeches and newspaper articles ever made or written. And here is the saintly Argus, which only two years ago was lauding the great philanthropist Tweed, for distributing among his voting machines a few thousands stolen from the people, and which compared the Christian character of Tweed with that of Charles Sumner, very unfavorably to the latter, now turning upon the "Boss" in his adversity, thus: "Tweed stripped of all his ill-gotten gains and sent to State prison, would be forever a warning to like evil doers, however they may have been able to riot in luxury and defy the law for a time." Even the Commercial, which clung to him closer than a brother in the palmy days when the golden stream from Tammany's fountain pleasantly lubricated the political machinery, now says the "old rascal" has got his just deserts, and unkindly calls him "the boss thief of the world." How much sharper than serpents' teeth to Tweed, must be these ungrateful thrusts from the corrifers of his reign of power!

A patent was granted to ex-President Andrew Johnson, Friday, for a combination plane. No more "swinging around the circle" for Andy; he is coming down to plane surfaces.

A contemporary suggests that excitement in the streets of Madrid may bear no closer relation to the feeling throughout Spain, than the clamor of New York city to the calm judgment of the American people.

The Boston Journal's Washington correspondent says that however strong the war feeling may be with those who are ignorant of war and have nothing to lose, it is certain that the President and all members of his Cabinet are entirely conscious of the gravity of the situation and of the sad results of the war, and that they will by all honorable means seek to avert it. A gentleman holding confidential relations with the President, said to the correspondent that "whatever those who are clamoring for war in the newspapers and on the streets may desire, those who know the most about war will do the most to avoid it, and I can assure you to my own knowledge that no one dreads war more than General Grant. They may call him a military President, who is anxious to bring on war, but he will leave no honorable expedient untried to maintain peace. He believes that war should be the last resort of Republics, as it is said to be of Kings."

The complete official returns of the late election in New York show that the total vote of the State was 671,377 on Secretary of State, and in 1871 it was 755,303 on the same office, showing a decrease of 83,964. The Democratic vote this year is 340,271 and in 1871 it was 368,242; it is, therefore, apparent that the party is not so strong in the State by 27,971 votes as it was two years ago. The showing on Secretary of State is the best the Democrats can get from any of the returns. The majority for Willers is 9,135, but on other officers their vote fell so much short that the majority for Hopkins, Republican, for Controller, is 4,974, and that of Platt, also Republican, for Prison Inspector, is 3,480. The great Democratic victory has, in the end, taken very small proportions.

The N. Y. Times says: "It is worth observing that the cry for an instant war with Spain is strictly confined to New York city. It finds no echo in any respectable newspaper outside of this city. There is undoubtedly a strong desire everywhere to see the rights of our citizens and the honor of our flag thoroughly vindicated, but the people manifestly wish to have all the facts placed before them before plunging into war. There is no doubt that what is absurdly called "the country press" takes a far more sobet and sensible view of this sudden difficulty than we find in some New York papers."

AWFUL REVENGE. The Belfast Journal with pitiless malice, inserts the name of the Collector of that District in diamond type in a bungerols paragraph, and is heartless enough to do it all in lower case. Poor Mr. Roberts will hardly survive that sort of retaliatory spite, which is a little worse than though Simpson had made faces at his sister.—Waterville Mail.

AN INTERESTING RELIC. A gentleman who recently visited the Law Library in Boston, found on its shelves a volume entitled:

Imprimeur ordinaire du Roy, 1661.

On the fly leaf of the book is the following in the handwriting of the late Judge Story: "This volume was ordered by me from Italy. On the passage it was captured by the British frigate Guerriere, and afterwards recaptured in the memorable engagement with the American frigate Constitution, commanded by Capt. Hull, on the 19th August, 1812. By the politeness of Captain Hull, I received it on his victorious return to the United States." J. S.

FROM BATH

SUICIDE

BATH, Nov. 24

An aged 99 years, six months and several days, died to day, having attained the great age of any person that ever lived in this city.

DOMESTIC NEWS.

NEW YORK CITY

ANOTHER SALOON MURDER.

New York, Nov. 23. Last evening Peter Stefano, an employe of Delmonico's, and Frank Paulo, visited the lager beer saloon of Michael Harold, 198 Broome street, and asked for beer. They commenced quarrelling with Peter Golert, and he began to strike him when the landlord interfered. Stefano then drew his clasp knife and plunged it three times into the back, one in the neck, and once in the breast of Harold, who died within a very few minutes. Stefano and Paulo were arrested.

TWEED AT THE TOMBS.

Owing to Sheriffs escape the strictest regulations were enforced at the Tombs, and no visitors were allowed admittance yesterday on any pretext. Tweed's friends express hope and belief that he will not be removed to Blackwell's Island until all means for obtaining a stay of proceedings have been exhausted.

OTHER RING TRIALS.

John D Farrington, a partner of Ingersoll known as the ring chairmaker and jobbly indicted with him for forging an endorsement on a warrant for $50,000; and who was arrested on Saturday, is to be tried at once.

A HEAVY FINE.

The Directors of the Hoboken Savings Bank have sent a note to Fisk & Hatch, peremptorily demanding the payment of the $500 by the latter to the bank.

THE COUNSEL ARRAIGNED FOR CONTEMPT

Tweed's counsel appeared in the Court of Oyer and Terminer this morning, in response to Judge Davis summons. The latter, looking coolly at them, called them by name and said he was ready to hear either of them. Mr Fullerton said that he wished to understand what the order of the proceedings would be.

Judge Davis replied that the counsel should know, and proceeded to state the nature of the papers presented to the Court at the beginning of the trial.

Mr Fullerton denied any intention of disrespect towards Judge Davis, which disclaimer Judge Davis accepted.

Judge Davis rehearsed the action of the counsel before the trial of Tweed actually began, and, assuming the paper presented by them at the trial was prepared last June, He said he apprehended the attempt was to get on the Court records and have it published in the newspapers, and Judge Davis "it proper in Judge presiding at the trial to be a party." Judge Davis expressed opinions "for and against the defendant on law points contrary to the decision of other Judges and also that he chase of it will and prejudice toward the defendant, he was not a proper officer to sit in the case. The publication of these statements would seriously mislead the jury. This paper was an attempt unrecognized by law to challenge off a Judge whose duty placed him as the presiding officer of the Court, and in effect to overrule all previously existing practice, and on untenable grounds. The paper impeaches on erroneous grounds the past conduct and present position of the Judge who presided. It declared that the Judge had formed an opinion a previous trial had expressed an opinion unfavorable to the defendant. That statement is incorrect in point of fact. The Judge expressed no opinion upon the facts, though he charged in such a form that the jury could not be mistaken, where, in the charge, can there be found any expression of opinion upon itself? He warned the jury that his opinion did not govern their action in any respect. They were to determine the facts themselves.

Judge Davis traversed the remaining contents of the paper, severely commenting thereon, and finally adjourned a further hearing to next Saturday, to give the counsel time to reply.

TWEED'S LAST HOPE

Counsel in the Tweed case will present a paper comprising nine objections on which to base arguments for a stay of proceedings. The prosecuting officer may ask time to consider the list of exceptions and Judge Davis may possibly take some time to consider the points of law before him. It is stated that in the meantime Tweed will not be put on Blackwell's Island.

PUSHING THE RING THIEVES.

No one was allowed to see Tweed to day, and his son was refused admittance. The trial of Ingersoll and Farrington for forgery in the third degree in connection with the ring transactions commenced to-day. Eight jurors were drawn up to recess.

Harry Genet, one of the old ring who was recently elected to the Legislature as an Independent candidate and who is indicted for obtaining money by false pretences and grand larceny in connection with the building of a new Court House at Harlem, was to-day admitted to bail in $5,000 on each indictment.

VARIOUS MATTERS.

The suit of Bedderman & Co. against Daniel Drew and others for $3,000,000 it is expected will bring out important facts hitherto kept from the public.

Bishop Odenheimer, of New Jersey, is still very ill.

The excise law was enforced in Brooklyn yesterday.

Gov Parker, of New Jersey, is reported to have said that he could furnish 5,000 troops for a Cuban war in a very short time.

Several ladies have been examined by the civil service here for positions in various Departments at Washington.

FROM BOSTON.

RAIN AND SNOW.

BOSTON, Nov 24. A heavy rain has been falling all day, the wind backing to northwest in the afternoon. A heavy fall of snow is reported at the North and East.

THE ANNEXATION QUESTION.

The legality of the annexation of Charlestown and West Roxbury to Boston was argued before the Supreme Court to day. Decision reserved.

PROHIBITIONISTS' MEETING.

A meeting of the prominent prohibitionists of several of the Wards of the city, held at the Wesleyan Association's committee room to-day, took into consideration the expediency of making district prohibitory nominations for municipal officers. After considerable discussion it was voted to adjourn to Wednesday for definite action.

THE SPANISH QUESTION!

The News More Pacific!

THE SPANISH MINISTER'S VIEWS!

Doubts About the Virginius!

A WORD FROM GENERAL SICKLES

His Relations Still Cordial!

THE SPANISH IRONCLAD OFF

Creeping Out But Monitors

THE HERALD'S INTERVIEWER—REPORT OF THE SPANISH MINISTER'S VIEWS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24. The Herald's Washington correspondent represents Admiral Polo as saying to him, during an interview last evening that there has been no insult done or intended to the American flag because the Virginius was no more entitled to it than the flag of Venezuela, that for three years past she has been engaged in a lawless pursuit, never once during that time having been in an American port, that there is ample proof that she was owned by Cubans, that she obtained her papers by fraudulent representations and therefore they were void, that it was no mere assumption on the part of the Santiago authorities that the Virginius prisoners were filibusters, as they knew it to be a fact, that General Burriel simply carried out the sentence of a regularly constituted Council of War.

OFFICIAL DENIAL OF THE REPORTS ABOUT GEN. SICKLES

Admiral Polo further expressed the opinion that while the situation was grave there would be no war unless brought on by the senseless clamor of a few. He added that he was authorized to deny the stories about Sickles, he having received the following telegram from Madrid: "Contradict the reports of hostile demonstrations against the American Minister. Gen Sickles is treated with sincere friendship and respect. Some excesses in the monarchical press have been immediately suppressed."

DOUBTFUL STATUS OF THE VIRGINIUS

The Tribune's Washington despatch says the more the case of the Virginius is investigated the more doubt arises in regard to her legal status, and the right to claim the protection of the American flag, but there is no doubt that the Virginius had a prima facie claim, and it is because of this that the President has demanded reparation, and the surrender of the ship. He is yet exceedingly anxious to avoid war.

The morning journals treat the latest news from Madrid and Washington as decidedly more pacific.

THE SPANISH FRIGATE ARAPILES

has so far progressed in repairs as to be almost ready to leave the Navy Yard. Her sailing orders have been changed. She will go to Cuba and not to Spain. Coal will be put on board to day. She will anchor in the North River to morrow to take in stores and powder and the Commander is determined to have her at sea before Dec. 1st.

The Dictator, which arrived yesterday, already has several gangs of men at work on her.

WORK AT THE NAVY YARD

yesterday was very brisk, the men being paid double wages. The Colorado will be the first vessel off and she will be ready by Saturday or Monday at farthest. Her coal is now being taken on board. The Dictator will be the next to leave the Yard as there is not much to be done to her and double gangs are at work.

LATER—OFF FOR CUBA

The Spanish sloop of war Arapiles left the Navy Yard this morning and dropped down to the battery preparatory to sailing for Cuba. Her repairs are incomplete.

THE CHARLESTOWN NAVY YARD

BOSTON, Nov 24. The following is a list of workmen now employed in the Charlestown Navy Yard. In Construction Department, 1,078 men, in Civil Engineers', 272, Steam Engineers', 301, Equipment, 298, Ordnance, 87, Provision and Clothing, 9, total, 2,046. On Saturday 100 men employed in the dry dock were discharged while an equal force was added to the Steam Engineers Department. It is expected the Franklin will be ready for sea in two weeks.

THE MONITORS MOVING

FORTRESS MONROE, Nov 24. The steamer Osceola, convoying the monitor Mahopac, has arrived and anchored off the Fort.

ALL THE MONITORS TO BE PUT IN ORDER

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 24. There are 1,800 men now employed at the Navy Yard. The monitor Ajax was taken off the dock yesterday and the Terror takes that place to day. Monitors Nantasket and Jason have been sent to private yards for repairs. It is reported that all the monitors at League Island will be put in order at once.

FROM LONDON—MINISTER SICKLES DENIES THE SENSATIONAL REPORTS.

LONDON, Nov 24. The agent of the associated press here is authorized by Minister Sickles to say that there is no foundation for the report published in New York on the 21st to the effect that he (Sickles) [illegible] off social relations with the Spanish Minister and that he expressed [illegible] that war was inevitable.

THE HERALD DESPATCH A FALSE[illegible]

There is no foundation whatever for the dispatch. The official and personal relations between Mr Sickles and the Spanish Minister are unchanged and Mr Sickles has never expressed any opinion as to the result of the pending question.

TELEGRAPHING FALSE NEWS

The Spanish press complain that the enemies of Spain telegraph false news to the United States.

A BRITISH COMMODORE AT SANTIAGO.

HAVANA, Nov. 24. The British [illegible] Woodlark arrived at Santiago de Cuba on the 18th and on the following day [illegible] ship of war Dauntless, with Commodore [illegible] Horsey, senior officer at Jamaica, [illegible] arrived from Port Royal. Gen. [illegible] embarked on the steamer [illegible] Havana before Commodore Delk[illegible] ashore.

CUBA TO OBEY THE AUTHORITY OF THE REPUBLIC.

MADRID, Nov. 24. President [illegible] received a despatch from Captain General Jovellar, assuring the Home Government that the authority of the Republic will be obeyed in Cuba.

PACIFIC COAST.

LOSS OF P. M. STEAMER ARIEL.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 23. On the 24th of October, the Pacific Mail Steamship Ariel from Yokohama to Hakodadi, struck on a reef and slid off and sunk to the masthead. She is regarded as a total loss. The passengers and crew were all saved.

The earthquake felt throughout Oregon and here last night, was severe at [illegible].

REPORT DENIED.

There is no truth in the rumor [illegible] of the Central Pacific Railroad bridge at Oakland. A fire in the brush in the hills beyond Oakland caused the alarm.

The charges against Superintendent Lagrange of the Mint proved groundless.

PENNSYLVANIA.

TESTING BOILERS.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 24. At the boiler yard yesterday the single riveted boiler leaked badly, and a pressure of 800 pounds was all that could be attained. The double riveted boiler endured a pressure of 500 pounds, when the two lines collapsed, the shell remaining intact, and not moving from its position. This is regarded as a satisfactory test.

FROM BOSTON.

A LITERARY EVENT—SALE OF THE ATLANTIC MONTHLY, ETC.

BOSTON, Nov. 24. James R. Osgood & Co., of Boston, preparing to relinquish the business of magazine publishing, have sold their periodicals, the Atlantic Monthly and Every Saturday, to Hurd & Houghton of New York and Houghton & Co., of the Riverside Press, and Our Young Folks, to Scribner & Co., of New York. It is understood that this important transfer of the magazines with which the Boston house has been so long identified, involves a large sum of money and has been made upon terms which are regarded by all parties as mutually advantageous.

WASHINGTON

MORE REVENUES.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24. A Washington special says that there are indications that attempts will be made to raise additional revenue from taxation. Among the subjects suggested for taxation are tea, coffee, and for an increase on distilled spirits and tobacco.

SILVER CURRENCY.

The Secretary of the Treasury has issued orders modifying previous instructions in reference to limited disbursements by the Treasury of silver coin in lieu of currency, so that hereafter in making disbursements silver coin be paid only for fractional parts of a dollar, instead in sums not exceeding five dollars as heretofore.

REPORTS OF TERRIBLE DESTITUTION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24. Private letters say that for some time past the inhabitants of a portion of Northwestern Iowa, particularly within the counties of Lyon and Osceola, are suffering severely for the lack of the actual necessaries of life, caused by the utter failure of the grain crops. These sufferers are in need of everything in the way of food, fuel and clothing. Several women have died from want.

FOREIGN NEWS.

GREAT BRITAIN

THE DOMINION

WRECK OF THE CABLE STEAMER—SERIOUS LOSS OF LIFE.

TORONTO, Ont., Nov 24. The following particulars have been received regarding the Anglo-American cable steamer Robert Lowe from the surviving officers. After connecting Lanarche and Placentia station by cable the steamer left the latter port at 4 P. M. the 19th just. bound for St. John. At 4 o'clock A. M. on the 20th the weather thickened and the wind was high.

THE SHIP STRUCK HEAVILY

near St Shalls, and in a few moments filled and settled down so fast that it was impossible to get the life boats afloat. Three other boats, containing 23 people, succeeded in getting clear of the wreck and remained by it all day and night.

CAPTAIN BRIMARCH

was on the bridge at the time of the disaster. He was perfectly cool, and took in the situation at a glance. He ordered the boats to be cleared away, &c., and perished by sticking to his vessel till the last five minutes after striking.

A TERRIBLE SCENE—THE DROWNED

The ship's poop was under water. Mr McKechnon, of the Health Content staff, and Day, the second steward, were drowned in the cabin. The rest were swept off the deck by heavy seas, which, in a few hours, reduced the steamer to atoms. On Friday five bodies were picked up and buried. The following are the names of the lost—J Tidmarch, Commander, F Pawlan, Chief Engineer, Pargent, 3d Engineer; Pash, 4th Engineer, Sullack, engineer's storekeeper, McIntyre, carpenter, Quartermasters Young, Slakwards, Warren and Anderson, able seaman, Wag staff, Berg, Day 2d, and Berriers 3d steward, Gaing, chief cook, Doolim and Gillagher, [illegible]

THAT 1,000-POUND CHEESE from the Newburgh cheese factory, which attracted so much attention at the recent State Fair in this city, and was purchased by Messrs Chenick and Frank Dutton, was cut yesterday for the benefit of their many customers. A section about six inches thick was sliced off the upper side by means of a wire drawn through by two men of muscle, and then this gigantic slice was divided into "chunks" to suit purchasers. The cheese is pronounced very nice by all who have tasted it.

WAR DECLARED.—A portly gentleman, who informed us that he belonged to the "Cuban Cadets," visited our office last evening, and reported that there was a difference of opinion among the members, which culminated in a warm discussion. This, he said, resulted somewhat differently from what he expected, "and the subsequent proceedings interested him no more." We judged as much, by the looks of his countenance and the condition of his garments. There were war like demonstrations elsewhere in the city yesterday, we conclude, for we hear of an argument which took place early in the morning on Stillwater avenue, where one of the disputants received a severe flesh wound from a pistol bullet, and later in the day a gentleman came down town with lils ear in his pocket, looking for a doctor.

THE SNOW STORM which commenced early yesterday morning, continued all day, and last evening the snow lay nearly eight inches deep on the ground where undisturbed. The storm was accompanied by a heavy wind, which increased in force towards night, and in the evening blew a tremendous gale, piling up monstrous drifts on the cross streets, and laying out a big job for the snow plows to-day. The through freight train from St John was delayed over two hours yesterday morning on an up grade near Lincoln, owing to the snow on the rails. The Piscataquis train did not arrive until 7 10 P. M., and the train from St John came in about half an hour later. Passengers by the latter train report the snow quite deep, but light. To the westward the storm must have been much heavier, as the passenger train from Boston did not reach Portland until between 7 and 8 P. M.—about the time it was due here. It arrived here about 4 o'clock this morning.

BOLD HORSE THIEF. Just before six o'clock last evening, Mr. Aaron Hill, who had left his horse and sleigh on Exchange street while he stepped into a store a moment, was coming out to drive home, a stranger jumped into the sleigh and drove up street at a slashing pace. Mr Hill ran after, shouting "stop thief," but the rascal didn't stop much, though others joined in the hue and cry, and turning up State street, he rushed the horse up the hill at the animal's top speed. A gentleman from Sabec was also driving up the hill and hearing the shouts tried to halt the runaway, but did not succeed, so on the impulse of the moment he threw his umbrella at the thief. The aim was good and the umbrella hit the chap on the head, knocking his hat off. The owner recovered his umbrella and the thief's hat, and drove on a short distance when he met a barebeaded man, who said the horse the fellow had run up to the sleigh and snatching off his hat, clapped it on his own head, and resumed his flight without even saying "thank'ee!" The police were informed and an officer started in pursuit of the cheeky stealist; but we have not heard whether or not he was successful in capturing him.

A COMMENDABLE RESOLUTION. At a time when intemperance is claiming so many victims and causing such untold misery in our own and other communities we desire to call special attention to the card of Mr. O. B. Plummer, of this city, in which he gives honorable warning that any person who shall hereafter either give or sell to him any of those stimulants which destroy self-control and arouse that most ungovernable of passions, the appetite for strong drink, will be prosecuted to the full extent of the laws. The public will heartily commend this resolution to invoke the law against those who would knowingly tempt fellow man to his ruin, and the best portion of our community would rejoice to see the heaviest penalties visited upon any person who shall disregard such a warning. We are not all alike in our temperaments and those who have great self control in some directions may have a weak spot in their armor which places them in constant peril. There are persons to whom a single glass of ale is the kindling of a furious appetite for stronger drink, and the same stimulant which awakens desire weakens the power of resistance. It is marvellous that men can be found who for the sake of a paltry profit or in a mockery of friendship, will hold to the lips of another the glass which they know is poison to him and misery to his family. We wish that every man who knows that his appetite for drink once indulged in is uncontrollable, would take the course indicated in the card referred to, and public sentiment would sustain the prosecution of any offender to the uttermost limit of the law.

MR. JAMES I. FELLOWS, Chemist.

DEAR SIR:—In May, 1866, I was attacked with a severe dry cough, which continued in harshness for some time, when I commenced expectorating a thick, whitish substance, then it turned a greenish yellow and slate-colored matter, then bleeding of the lungs set in, and other symptoms of a very alarming character showed themselves. I consulted the leading physicians in Philadelphia and other cities, who gave me no encouragement, as my disease was Consumption. I spared no expense to obtain relief, but found none. In August, I had fallen in flesh from 155 to 136 pounds, and sinking rapidly every day. My friends in Philadelphia advised me to leave the ship and go home. At home they considered my case hopeless, and wished me to remain there and not go on a foreign country. I visited St. John in October of the year on my way to Philadelphia to join my ship, and was advised by a stranger, who had my shrunken form and racking cough, to try Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and as a drowning man will grasp at a straw, I saw a ray of hope in the suggestion, procured a bottle. The effect warranted further trial, and I bought a dozen bottles. At St. John, and have been knocking about the Atlantic ever since.

This is the first time I have visited your place, I feel under an obligation to let know the effects produced by this Syrup. I commenced taking the remedy regularly. My appetite improved—I regained health—the my cough gradually left me, finally the expectoration ceased, and as the benefit was gradual, I could note a change for the better every day, so that having taken two bottles I considered myself well. This was about five months the time I commenced taking the Syrup. A short time after I had considerable pain, and feeling some of the old symptoms returning, I finished the other two bottles and now I consider myself as well as I was in my life. My present weight is seven pounds above my usual healthy weight. My nerves are good, my appetite good and general health excellent. I heard recommend your syrup to all persons afflicted with any difficulties or disease of the Lungs or Nervous System, firmly believing that had I not used it I would not now be living.

Hoping this letter may meet the eyes of those similarly affected, and induce them to use the same means of cure.

I remain yours very truly,

FOR HIS SAKE.

MY PARADISE JOY

Hold closer still my hand, dear love,
Nor fear its touch will soil thine own;
No palm is cleaner now than this,
So free from earthly sin has it grown.
Since first I held it clasped so close,
And with it held my life and heart,
Lo, at our feet the Angel Death
Has come, and we have parted.

I loved you long. Ah! you know
I have no word or thought of blame,
And even now my voice grows low
And tender, whispering your name.
You gauged my love by yours, that's all,
I do not think you understood,
Or else a point you met can touch,
Up the white heights of womanhood.

Darkness—so let dust you say.
With many a tender smile and word
Your eyes close on mouth and brow,
And your heart within is stirred,
Yet I, who make your joy my joy,
No other future is at stake,
We give our best, and count it that Death
Has closed which suffered for your sake.

TIMBER, COAL AND IRON LANDS FOR SALE.

We have for sale several large tracts of land, aggregating about 150,000 acres, lying in the States of Tennessee and Kentucky contiguous to the Dividing State line and beginning a few miles west of Cumberland Gap. These Lands are covered with a large and virgin growth of the best quality of Timber trees, consisting of Oak, Chestnut, Pine, Poplar, (Liriodendron) and Walnut. They abound in Carbonates, Hematites and Fossil Iron ores, and being in the heart of the southern prolongation of the great Alleghany coal field, are underlaid with seams of excellent quality of Bituminous and Cannel coal, from three to six feet in thickness. They are drained by numerous streams through which timber can be run into the Cumberland, and thence into the Ohio river. They are now crossed by the lines of the Knoxville and Ohio Railroad, in process of construction, connecting Louisville and Knoxville, and also the Cincinnati Southern Railroad, connecting Cincinnati with Chattanooga and Knoxville, for the construction of which Cincinnati has appropriated ten million dollars of her city bonds. By these railroads they will be brought within 175 to 200 miles of Cincinnati and Louisville. They will be sold at a very low price when regarded as timber lands only, while their great and ever increasing value as Coal and Iron lands will form an estate of untold wealth. The land will be sold together, or in separate parcels, to suit purchasers. The title is derived directly from the States in which they lie, and is unquestionable.

Seventh Year.

The Aldine,

An Illustrated Monthly Journal, universally admitted to be the Handsomest Periodical in the World. A Representative and Champion of American Taste.

Not for Sale in Book or News Stores

THE ALDINE will be issued with the regularity, but none of the temporary or timely interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegant miscellany of pure, light and graceful literature, and a collection of fine pictures, the rare excellences of which, in black and white, although such a collection affords a fresh pleasure to lovers of the beautiful, the real value and beauty of THE ALDINE will be more appreciated after it has been bound up at the close of the year. While other public shows may claim superior cheapness, as compared with rivals of a similar class, THE ALDINE is a unique and original conception—none will approach it—absolutely without competition in its field of art. The possessor of a complete volume cannot duplicate the quality of the page elsewhere, in any other shape or number of volumes, for ten times its cost, and then, there are Chromos, besides.

ART DEPARTMENT, 1874.

The contributions to THE ALDINE have won a world wide reputation, and in the art centres of Europe it is an admitted fact that its woodcuts are examples of the highest perfection ever attained. The unusual prejudice in favor of steel plates will justify a brief explanation, which will show that the woodcut has a peculiar value of its own, possessing the advantages of greater artistic quality, with greater facility of production. The wood engraving of THE ALDINE possesses the delicacy and elaborate finish of the most costly steel plate, while they afford a better rendering of the artist's product.

To do a fair share of the fine artistic work which THE ALDINE is doing for the cause of art culture in America, it is only necessary to consider the taste of the people of any other decade, through representations of the productions of great painters.

In addition to these, there are many by the members of the National Academy, and other noted American artists. THE ALDINE will reproduce examples of the best foreign masters, so that it will with a view to the highest artistic excellence, present a representative collection. Thus the subscriber to THE ALDINE will, at a trifling cost, enjoy in his own home the pleasures and refining influences of the fine arts.

The quarterly tinted plate for 1874 will be by Thomas Moran and J. D. Woodward.

The Chromos issued for 1874 will contain special designs as great rivals to the earlier ones, by our best artists, and will surpass in attractions any of its predecessors.

PREMIUM FOR 1874.

Every subscriber to THE ALDINE for the year 1874 will receive a pair of chromos. The or ginal pictures were painted in oil for the publishers of THE ALDINE, by Thomas Moran, whose great Colorado picture was purchased by Congress for ten thousand dollars. The subjects were chosen to represent "The East" and "The West." One is a view in the White Mountains, New Hampshire, the other gives The Cliffs of Green River, Wyoming Territory. The difference in the character of the scenes themselves is a pleasant contrast, and affords a good display of the artist's scope and coloring. The chromos are each worked from thirty distinct plates, and are in size (14x20) and appearance exact facsimiles of the original. The presents are of a worthy example of America's greatest landscape painter to the subscribers of THE ALDINE was a happy idea, and its successful realization is attested by the following testimonial, over the signature of Mr. Moran himself:

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 20th, 1873.

MESSRS. JAMES SUTTON & Co.

Gentlemen,—I am delighted with the proofs in color of your chromos. They are wonderfully successful representations of the mechanical process of the original paintings.

Very respectfully,
(Signed) THOS. MORAN.

These chromos are in every sense American. They are by an original American process, which marks a new era in American manufacture, from designs of American painters, by an American firm, and presented to our citizens in the most successful American manner. The letter below, from one of all this, they will certainly excite an interest not the foreign production, and neither do they the more if by the humbler one's aspiration, facilities of production they cost equal to other chromos that are sold simply for double the subscription price of THE ALDINE. Persons pay for the price they did not cost, and will appreciate the enterprise that renders their distribution possible.

If any subscriber should indicate a preference for a figure subject, the publishers will select "Thoughts of home," a new and beautiful chromo, 14x20 inches, representing a little Italian exile whose speak eyes betray the longings of the heart.

TERMS.

$5 per annum, in advance, with Oil Chromos free.

For 50 cents extra, the chromos will be sent, mounted, varnished and prepaid by mail.

THE ALDINE will, hereafter, be obtained only by subscription. There will be no reduction or club rates; cash for subscriptions must be sent to the publisher direct, or handed to the local canvasser, without responsibility to the publishers, except in cases where the certificate is signed by the publisher, bearing the facsimile signature of JAMES SUTTON & Co.
